

/and service of summons cannot be had upon him in the State of Wyoming.

And it further appearing from the records in the case that Edwin V. Magagna, attorney for the plaintiff filed herein his affidavit showing that this is a proper case for the service of summons by publication, that the defendant, George Travers McConnell, does not reside in the State of Wyoming, that diligent search and inquiry has been made to determine the place of residence of Alice J. McLain, but the same cannot be ascertained and is unknown to the plaintiff and service of summons cannot be had upon her within the State of Wyoming.

And it further appearing that pursuant to all requirements of law, constructive service of summons was had upon all of said defendants, by notice duly published in The Pinedale Roundup, a legal newspaper published in the County of Sublette, proof of which publication has been made and filed herein.

And it appearing that a copy of said publication notice was mailed by the clerk of this court as provided by law to the defendant, George Travers McConnell, addressed to him at his last known address, and that immediately preceding the hearing of this cause, Edwin V. Magagna, attorney for the plaintiff, filed herein his Affidavit showing that the present place of residence of the defendant, Alice J. McLain is unknown and cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained, the court doth find that constructive service of summons was had upon the defendants in all things according to law, and the court doth approve and confirm the same.

The defendants and each of them being in default for an appearance, answer, or plea, and their default having been taken and entered in open court, and evidence having been introduced and heard in open court, and the court being now sufficiently advised in the premises doth say and find that the allegations of the petition are true, and that the relief asked for should be granted.
